The essential mission of the European Association for the Study of the Liver (EASL) is to promote liver research and to improve the treatment of liver disease throughout the world.

EASL's aim of involving young scientists and hepatologists in its activities, to stimulate their active contribution and to support their research, has been instrumental in its success.

Throughout its history, EASL has endeavoured to raise the awareness of and to stimulate the interest in liver disease. To this end EASL has attracted an ever growing number of experts and sponsors concerned with the health and well-being of individuals all over the world.

We invite all those who wish to take up this challenge to join EASL and become part of our vision.
